

Pronunciation Made Easy

bridging L1 and L2

Hi !

The newsletter is a bit late this month and I apologize. But there are two good reasons. I was working hard on a couple of things of interest to you.

I worked on version 2 of Pron Made Easy for some time and added

- a new cover
- 50 new words, and
- a table with a list of regular verbs in the Simple Past organized into their three different endings.

I believe this is a very helpful resource, because the pronunciation of some of the verbs isn't always very obvious.

I will be sending a free copy to all those who bought the dictionary, as previously promised. You will have to await a message with the subject "Pron. Made Easy" to be able to download it. But before that I will send you a personal message to remind you.

Self-publishing and marketing are topics that interest me and I've trying to learn as much as I can by reading books and attending webinars. That's why I attended the online "Self-Publishing Summit" (13-23 Jul.) where a group of successful young authors talked about writing, marketing and monetizing (making money from) their books. This was an 11-day event full of great and very practical ideas, and lots of 'food for thought'. Those of you interested in this topic can read my posts about it in my blog Word of Mouse. Do leave comments. They are so enriching.

Last but not least, please forward this newsletter to your friends and colleagues. Help me spread the word about the dictionary and the newsletter. Your
